TOPAZ 1967
SHEEPSHEAD BAY H. S.

June 1967

Dear Graduates:

Each of you young adults is going out into a rapidly evolving way of life being hailed optimistically as the "Great Society." This is in the long tradition initiated by Woodrow Wilson, extended by Franklin D. Roosevelt, energized by John F. Kennedy, and now being consolidated by Lyndon B. Johnson. These leaders have had as their goal the enlargement of opportunity for all citizens to decent housing, new job opportunities, high quality education, equal dignity. Hope for attaining this goal is present when men and women use their power, their intelligence, and their imagination to good ends.

You young people must become such men and women, committed to using your best understanding of things for the good of society. Certainly most of your lives will be devoted to personal undertakings—your further education, your occupations, your families. These undertakings are vital; achieving the greatest personal fulfillment is a high purpose. But there must be something more—there must be a sincere and life-long commitment to goals outside the personal sphere. We all must care about our fellow-men everywhere, and about the future of our nation and our world. We all can and must be informed so as to act wisely in our local communities and in national problems.

In essence, what we are seeking is understanding—of ourselves, of others, of our values and goals, of our present problems and of developmental trends.

If your education to date puts you on the road to becoming "Great Citizens" then the investment must surely bring untold dividends, and the "Great Society" can become a reality.

With affectionate BEST WISHES—

theme

During our time spent at Sheepshead Bay, we have approached the challenge of self-expression in many ways. Sometimes it appeared in the guise of a number two pencil and the alternative of an endless series of five tiny rectangles; at other times it was camouflaged as an improbable choice of topics for an English assignment. But despite the difficulty we may have had discerning it at the time, the groping for a means of expressing ourselves has always prevailed.

We have tried desperately to find the right word or the significant expression. In the search we have attempted singing it out, painting it, pushing it through a mouth-piece, or playing nine innings in its name. When one approach didn't work, we may have been temporarily speechless, but the spirited investigation continued.

This painstaking search has dominated our Senior Class, and it will remain the preponderant element in this yearbook. The theme is self-expression, and the hope is that the quest continues.

Gail Sperber

dedication

*Child, we were told
Deep into the rock shall you find
Answers to the question.
The rock is large and strong,
No small children shall conquer its strength.*

*We asked if man and woman
Could melt the shell of the rock with their love?
No, the rock must open freely
To the beat of the sun.
(They whispered for none of us were yet man and woman)*

*The sun is out tomorrow we said.
Will the soul of the rock open to us tomorrow?
No, again they answered.
The rock shall open on Today;
 Tomorrow is too late.*

*Light passed; settling darkness came.
Still in the garden of our heart,
Remained the memory of what had been said.
Time lessened the number of children,
We wondered if we were capable of achievement.*

*Now we were not child nor man nor woman.
In mornings, we spoke and listened.
We felt each other's heart,
Frightened at the constancy of the beat.
Discovering beetles, ant nests, dried cocoons
We wondered if all things right were so.*

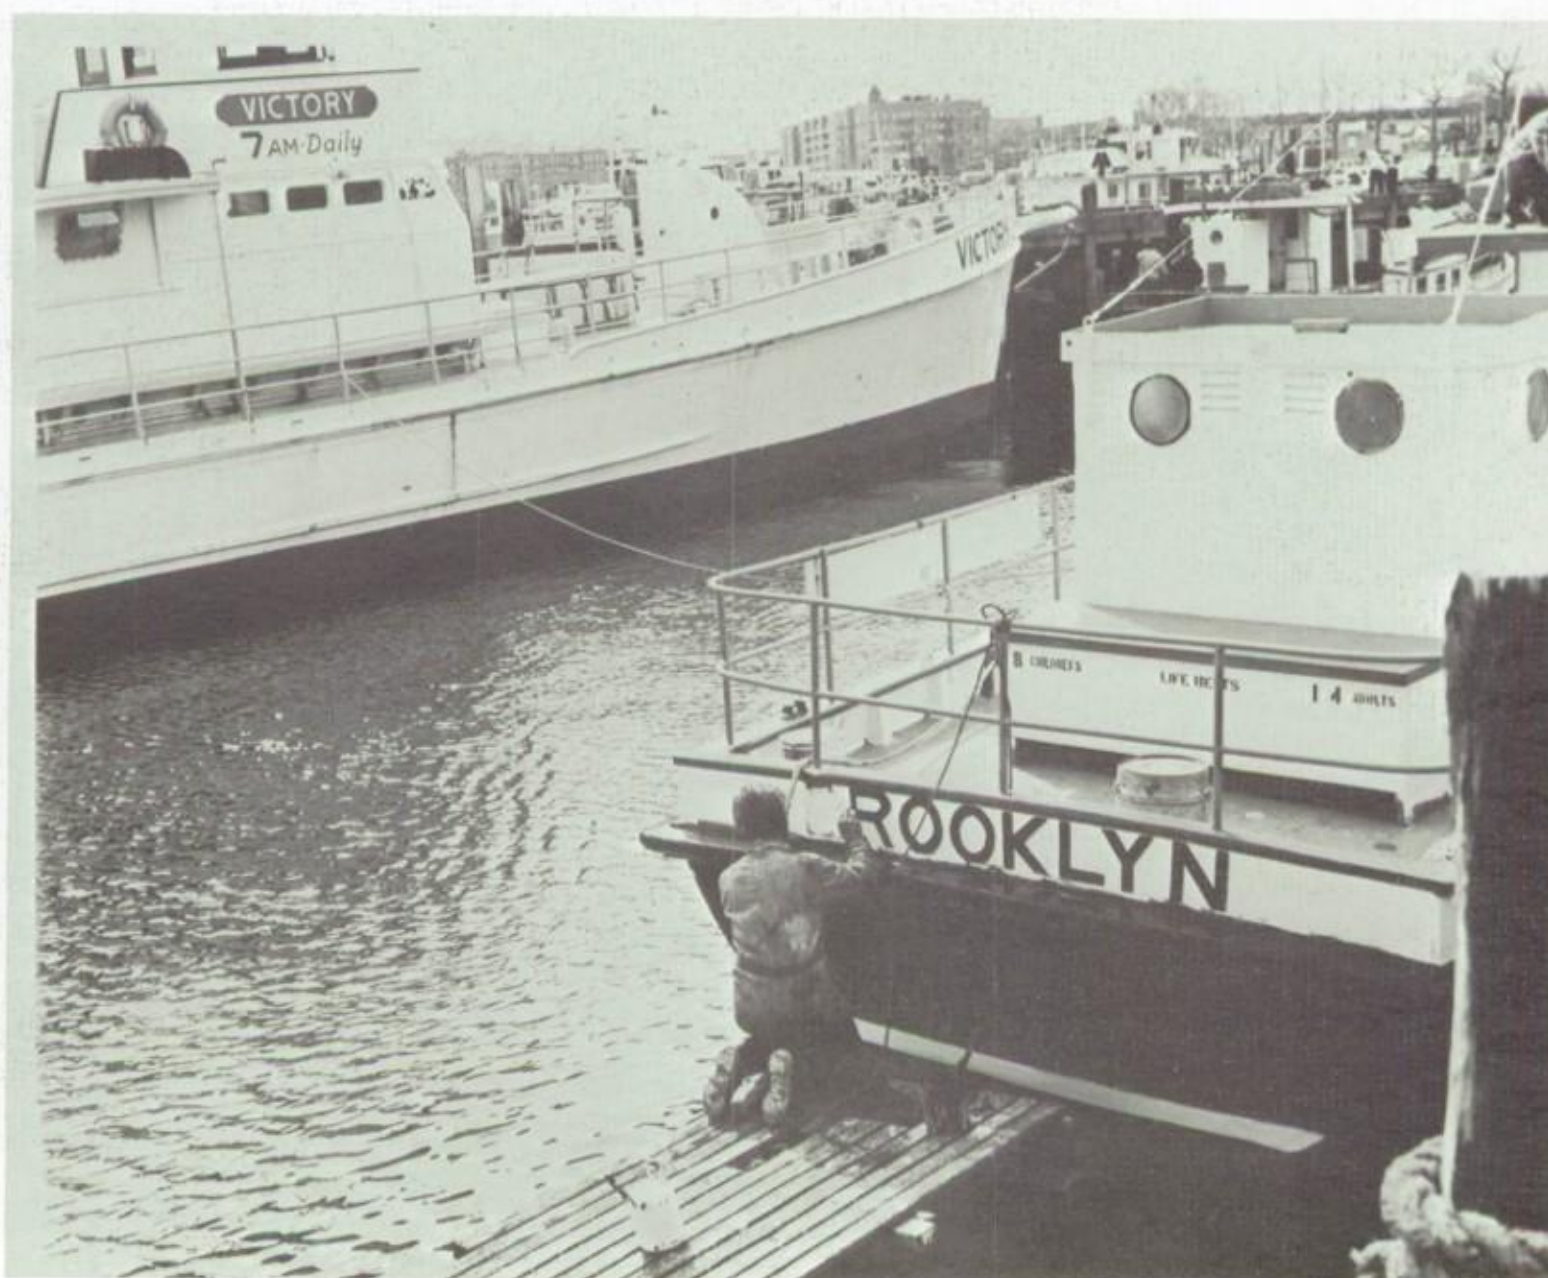

*Later into the span of the morning
We chanced upon a tear dripping along the bone of the face.
We touched it,
Picking like young birds at its roundness and tensity,
Finally licking it up into our smile.*

Still had we found no method of entering the rock.

*Now as we plan our graduation
Into another time of the day
We must remember there remains
Many hours to the evening,
With love and fear, with lips and eyes and hand,
With word, with courage and right—
All these expressions of ourself
Shall we finally begin to break open that small stone
For we are the freedom of expression,
And we are no longer children.*

dear con edison

Dear Con Edison:

To steal a theme from Arthur Miller, I've finally put on those glasses everyone's been talking about, and things really are beginning to look a lot clearer. Maybe it's been this last year: People call it a disease, but it could just be a rare opportunity to flaunt a cliché. For once, it's just possible that you don't have to take the good with the bad. You can rip the bad out of your assignment pad and discard it temporarily. But perhaps it's just an inflammation of Senior heads after all, and I really got fitted with my new prescription three years ago, when for the first time I hated that cliché for being true.

But the problem has always been what to do with my corrected vision, so with a not quite college try I am enclosing this light bill. The dark was always great for thinking, sleeping and biting my nails, but now that things aren't quite as fuzzy as they used to be in the light, I thought it was time to wash my face and take a closer look. After all, how long could I be expected to go on covering up my thoughts with Clearasil, waiting with desperate hope for them to retreat quickly?

That cure doesn't work anymore, so I've been looking for a new answer. The search has been on for a while now. I've joined in, walked on the periphery, and turned my back on the things I've met here, all in an attempt to express myself, to make my eruptions noticed. Now I see that everyone else has been trying also. With an ability to express ourselves, we're finally prepared to tolerate the light.

Best always,
Gail B.

in the beginning

In the beginning there was a class of boys and girls and they gathered in the assembly of Sheepshead Bay High School and they were called the Tenth Grade. And they were without form or spirit and darkness was upon their minds. And their teachers spoke of them and said, Let them learn; and the class divided each day into learning and playing and the learning they called school work and the playing they called extra-curricular activities. And they learned and they played, the first term.

And then the Tenth Grade created a Sing and they loved and nursed this Sing and it grew into a beautiful thing which was called Teamwork and everyone saw that it was good, the second term.

And the Tenth Grade became the Eleventh Grade and they were friends and each friend was special to the next as the school was special to the Eleventh Grade. And students became cheerleaders, musicians, dancers, athletes, writers and they filled Sheepshead Bay with gifts of talent and joy and the Seniors were so afraid, the third term.

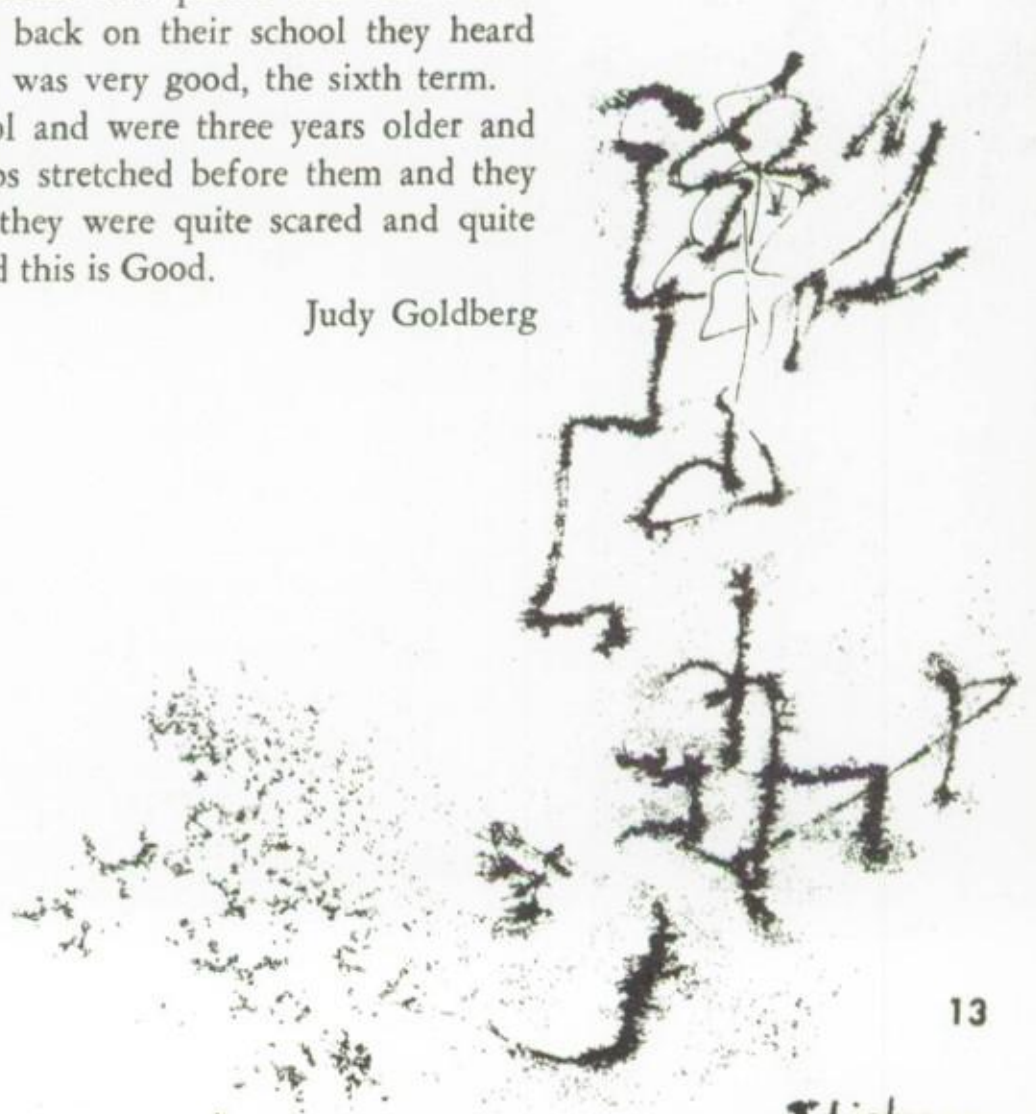

And the Eleventh Grade built another Sing and this one outshone all the others with Work and Effort and Hope and the other grades were defeated and the Eleventh Grade was merry, the fourth term.

But a mysterious dark cloud descended over each student when he was a Senior and that cloud was called College and Careers. For each college wanted a student in its own image. And the hearts of the Seniors were heavy with applications, and the thunder of the College Entrance Examination was heard in the land and the Seniors waited and the colleges accepted them and they found jobs and they were glad, the fifth term.

And so there was much rejoicing among the Seniors and the teachers despaired, for sometimes there was little learning. And the Seniors had proms and shows and they were sad at Graduation and when they looked back on their school they heard memories and they knew wisdom and they said, This was very good, the sixth term.

And the boys and girls had finished high school and were three years older and they were weary from the work. But college and jobs stretched before them and they could not even see to the end of these things and they were quite scared and quite hopeful, and they did not rest on the seventh term. And this is Good.

Did the Barry Sisters really start this way?

First you shake it to the left . . .

Annual reunion of the Herbert Hoover Bread Lines.

No, no, I'll never leave my book uncovered again, Mr. Sabbath.

I'm sorry, you'll have to change until you get a TX note remember when?

Whadaya mean, it's raining.

Well, anyway, the knock in the radiator stopped.

John and Paul who?

Yes, this certainly is "Fun City".

Cut the Alma Mater; Sing's running over already!

flower-stealer

*One morning
Falling gently into flowers
White, and yellow pistiled
I looked up and around and down and quiet—the sound of whistle,
Stole a rose.*

*I held it up to my heart
Listening to the dew loving
Softly lips of my rose dark*

*Holding tightly,
I wondered of each petal,
Each line, each drop of sweet nectar
So much like a word I had found
And placed in my pocket
On another morning,
In another market.*

*I now watched its face
Rounding toward light in day
Smiling proudly,
As if to say
I am an expression of life
Although a rose red is ne'er white.*

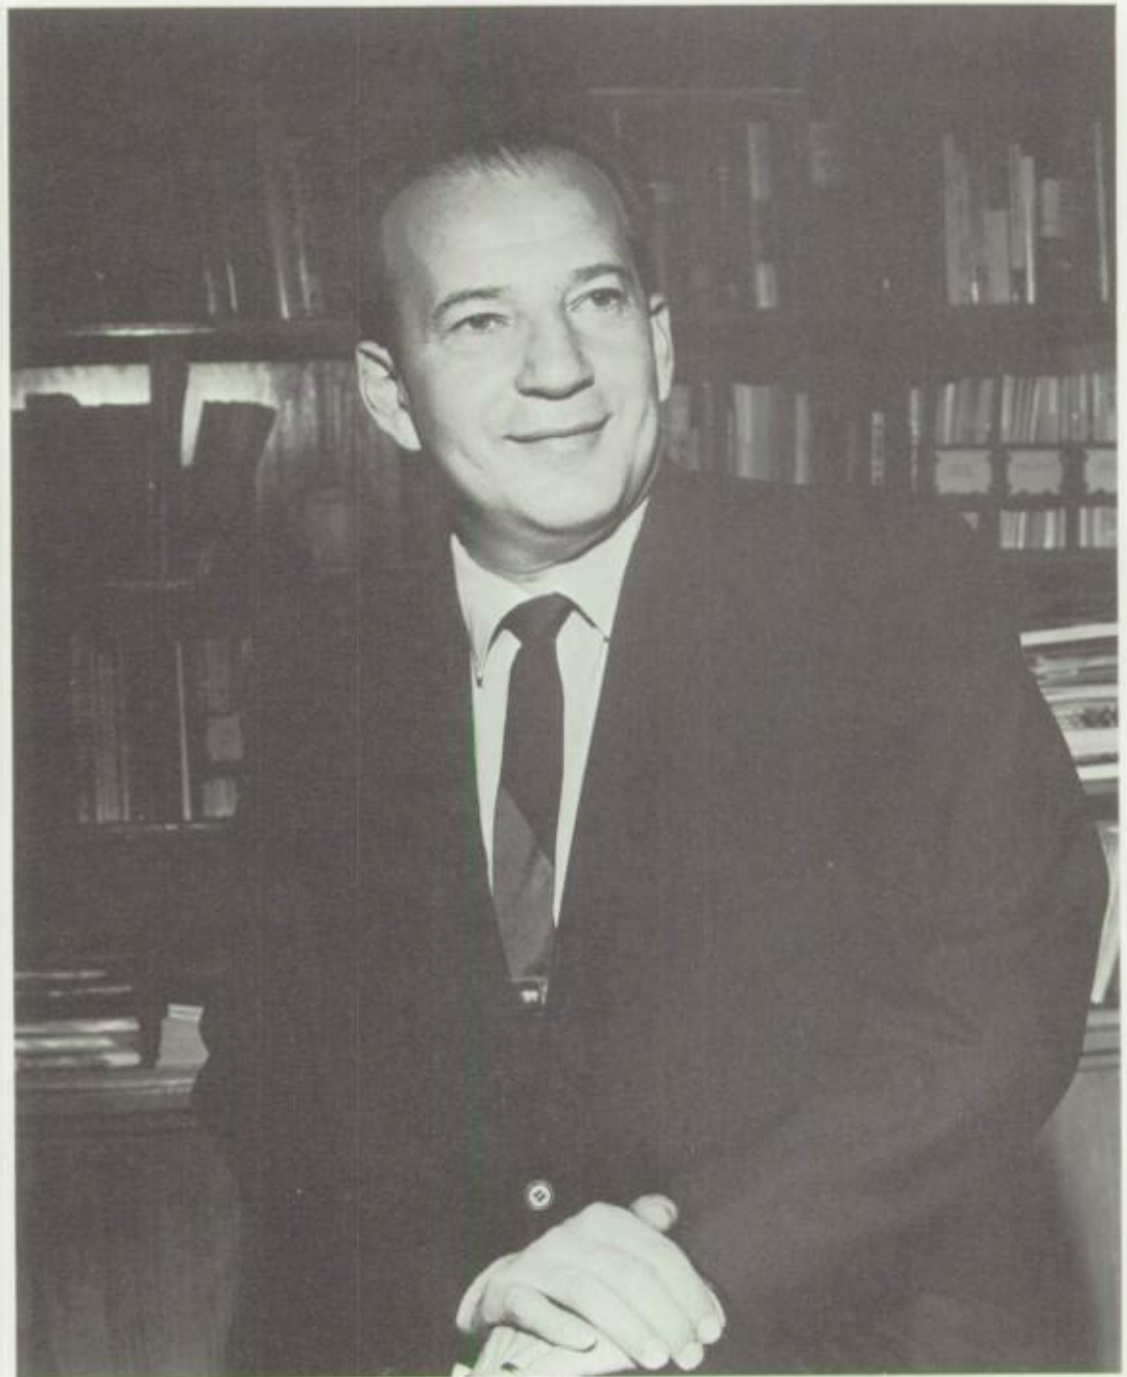

*Then I put back the red flower
For I was no thief—
No inheritor, nor dreamer
No owner to this feast.*

*Still a question delays
The rose I've discovered and loved
Couldn't I keep it?
For yet another day.*

Sing 1966

Sing 1966

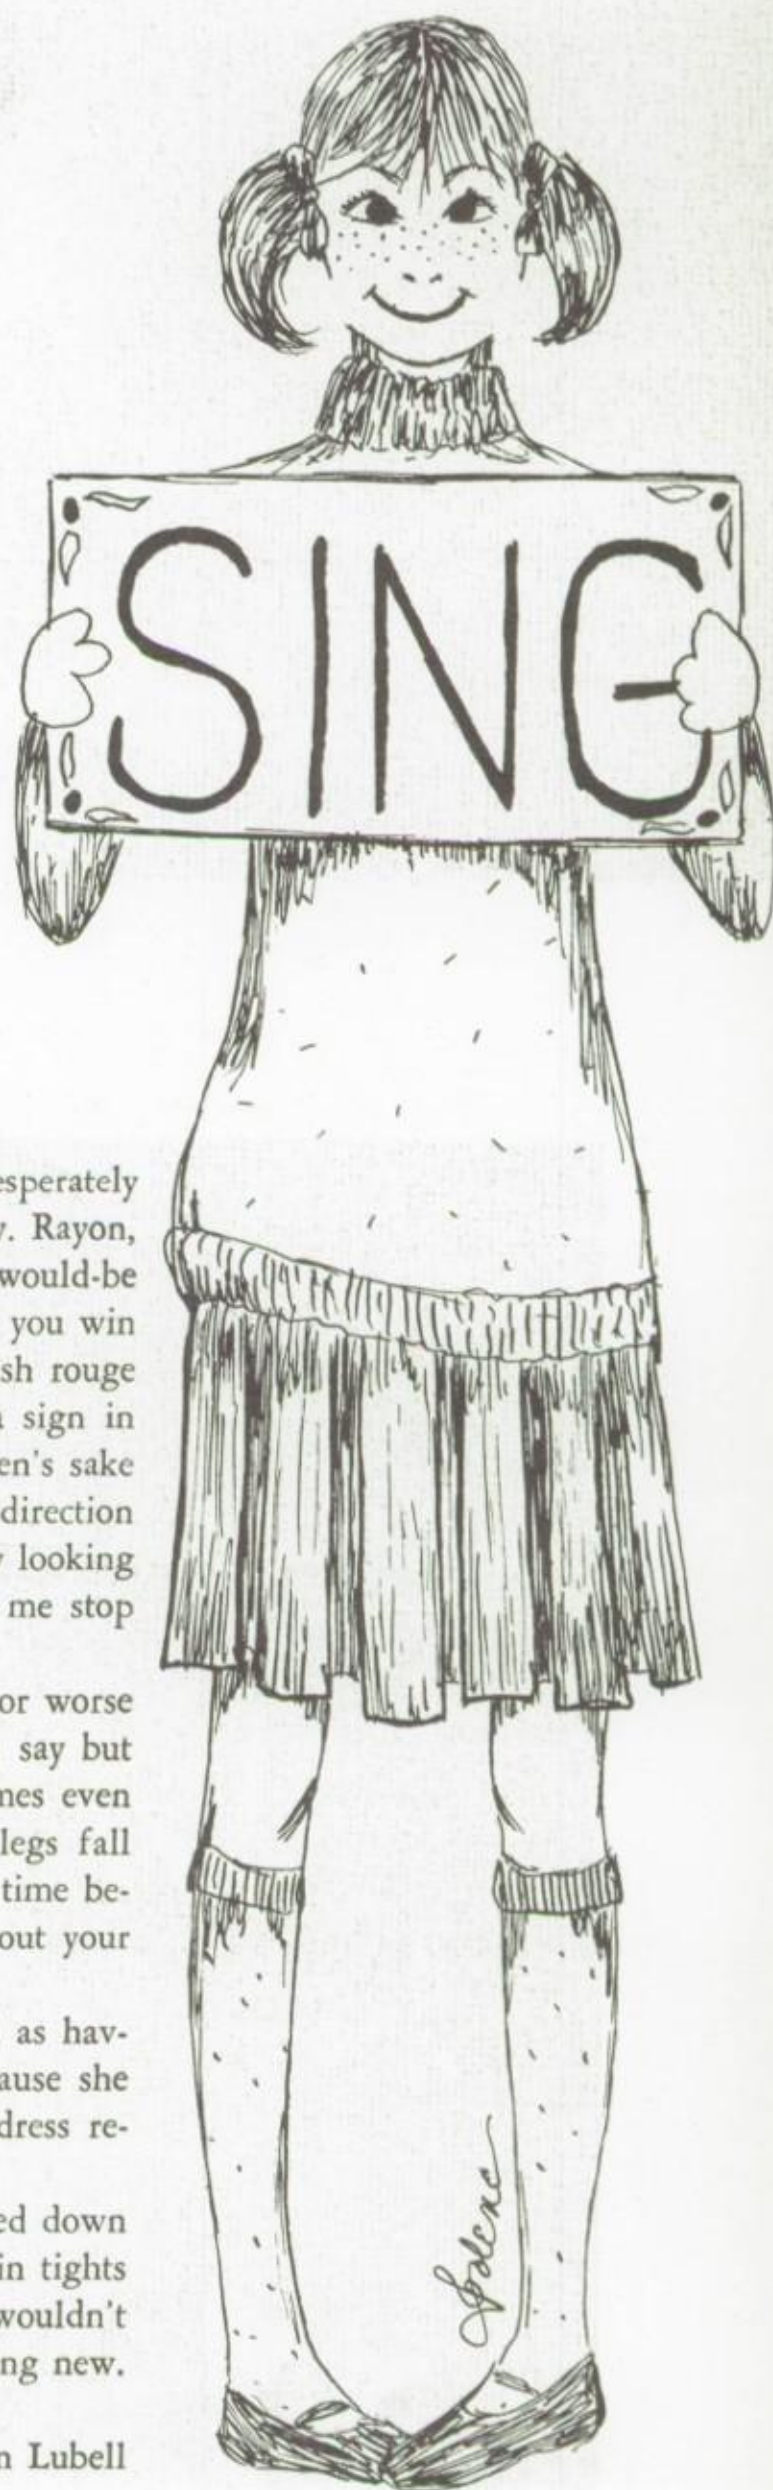

Jewish mothers abound. Not real ones, but adolescent prodigies trying desperately to attain that which is not fated to come for another two years or so in reality. Rayon, shiny rayon that shreds when you look at it incorrectly, rips and drips off would-be victors and reapers of the glory and permission to snub upper-classmen should you win when you're a lower-classman. Health, in the form of red ruby vermillion blush rouge stage make-up is plastered over faces pallid from rehearsing while carrying a sign in your eyes and on your lips that say SPIRIT while your heart says oh for heaven's sake give up it's only a stupid Sing and you're not going to win a Tony award for direction because only stupid parents and stupider kids are going to see it and the're only looking for someone they know so stop yelling at me director 'cause you can't make me stop chewing gum when I'm singing the reprise of the finale.

Sing comes once a year like taxes the parents say, and like Attila's Huns or worse the more poetic kids say, and like something the more acute observers (kids) say but I can't reproduce on this paper. Sing is cutting French and Math and sometimes even English to paint scenery and smoke in the prop room. Sing is having your legs fall asleep just before you all have to rise in unison for effect and smiling all the time because that stupid director is looking at you again but aha you've already spit out your gum.

Sing is not as brotherly "lovely" as all that. Friendly rivalry is exhibited as having a senior curse me out in the girls' locker room when I was a junior because she couldn't hear the juniors applauding when the seniors were on stage during dress rehearsal.

My bows were always limp. Even when my hair was long my bows drooped down as if I hadn't watered them for a week but I had. Also my legs look terrible in tights and sure enough every single year the loud-mouthed costume committee said oh wouldn't it look cute to wear tights for a change as if they were Cardin starting something new.

Ellen Lubell

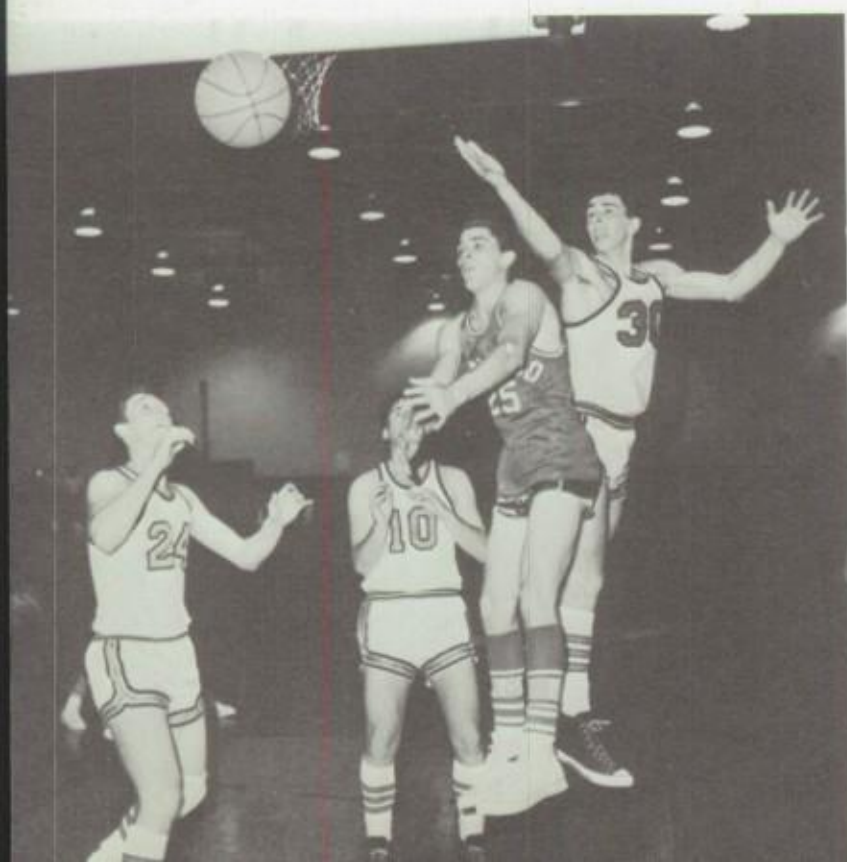

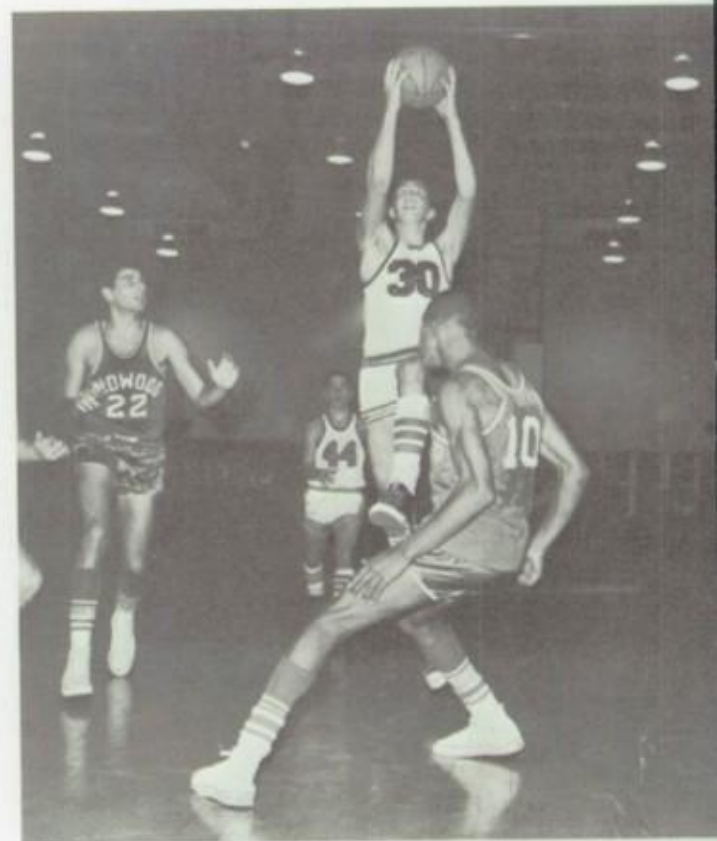

hail and farewell

Sheepshead's "pheenoms" of the basketball courts, the Skippers, completed a sparkling 1966-67 season. Superb shooting, dribbling, and rebounding highlighted the strong Skipper offense, as fans watched the orange and white clad stars overwhelm their adversaries. Teamwork and quick thinking were also essential factors in vaulting the Skippers into a three way tie for first place with Lincoln High School and Lafayette High School.

Surely graduation of two year veterans Andrew Edgehill, Robert Ednick, Ira Gastwirk, Dennis Gelfand, Harvey Mandell, and Jeff Schiller, who have always displayed fine talent, will be a great loss to next year's team. Nevertheless, the prestige, sportsmanship, and honor that these boys have brought to Sheepshead Bay High School will long be remembered by their fellow graduating peers and many others.

editors' farewell

Expression is a very obscure term; self expression is more definitive, yet even harder to discover and utilize.

We have all searched in Sheepshead Bay for life in its purest forms. In the attempt we have discovered the expression of our class. This discovery is not enough, however. We must now communicate our originality, our awareness, to the society which sometimes does not want to stop and recognize us.

Topaz, 1967 is our attempt to give all of us a final memory of our three years at Sheepshead Bay High School. A final memory of the look, the smile, the word, the undefined expression of one.

Self expression is a very rare and wonderful quality in an individual. We must allow our words, our emotions, our thoughts to be used freely. Vanity, ambition, fear, must not color our expression. For indeed, shall we see more clearly, shall we create more completely, when we ourselves express the truth.

PRESIDENT

BROADWAY AND BOERUM STREET
BROOKLYN, NEW YORK 11206

Dear Graduate:

Graduation is a most important time in any family's life. A time to reflect about the many good things that have happened in the last four years ... and a time to think about the years ahead.

I am certain that you have considered furthering your education, either in college or in the many fine trade or nursing schools which are available. Perhaps you have already made a decision ... we hope it was to continue your education.

Now here's how we can help!

Under a cooperative arrangement with the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation you may borrow from $750. to $1,500. a year with a maximum of $7,500. for attending college ... lesser amounts for trade schools. You make no payments and there are no interest charges while you are in school. Upon termination of studies you can take up to six years to repay. Loans are made directly to the student ... no co-signers are needed. Dial the telephone numbers listed below for additional information.

May we take this occasion to congratulate you on your graduation and to wish you a successful and rewarding future.

Cordially,

Michael J. Burke
